Hello Mr. Olubode,

The current stay (i.e., pause) in the District Court case expires at the end of Monday, January 27, 2025. The Complaint/Petition asked the District Court to order USCIS to issue a decision in your immigration case. Since USCIS issued their decision on January 15, 2025, although it was not the decision you were hoping for, I was hoping we could agree to dismiss the District Court case. I attached a stipulation of dismissal for your review. If you agree to this stipulation and we file it, this document would prompt the Court to end the case.

USCIS forwarded to me the notice of decision that they issued on January 15. I think you already have that notice in your records, but I can send you a copy if you'd like. Once we file the attached stipulation, I'll forward it to USCIS along with your email regarding the financial hardship that refiling a Form I-130 would cause you. I cannot guarantee that USCIS will do anything with that information, but I can promise to pass along your message.

Please let me know if you have any questions. If you don't have time to print and sign the attached, your email consenting to the stipulation for dismissal would be sufficient.

Best regards,

Christian
